True Automation Partners with Compu-Tech for Seamless, Affordable Data Conversions

DALLAS –July 15, 2008 – True Automation, national provider of property tax collections and assessment software, announced today it has entered into a partnership agreement with Compu-Tech Inc., a software and service provider for the government sector in Washington State.

This agreement enables True Automation to add a Compu-Tech conversion specialist to its talented team of implementation experts. This strategic extension of True Automation’s capabilities further allows for the successful adoption of its flagship product, PACS, into its developing market in the Pacific Northwest, leveraging Compu-Tech’s sizable presence in this region.

“This arrangement demonstrates our commitment to using Compu-Tech’s services for all data conversions of our shared clients,” stated Osvaldo Morales, president of True Automation. “In addition, True Automation customers are guaranteed a reduced hourly rate for all conversion services as part of this partnership. In some cases, True Automation clients will be able to use budgeted maintenance dollars pre-paid to Compu-Tech to go towards the conversion costs. We appreciate Compu-Tech’s commitment to this relationship to make these conversion processes efficient and affordable for our joint customers.”

About True Automation
